

ABSTRACT

5 A polarization transformer in a polarization mode dispersion compensator is adjusted over its changing device characteristics with environmental changes and time by using a feedback signal indicating a state of polarization and a distortion of an output optical signal of compensating optics.